THE

PETTIBON

FAMILY

A lineage of lustre new,
This is the glory I would sing,
Until our children's children bring
To match the name they won at birth,
A name of very present worth.

Summing up as we look to nature to find something with which to compare our clan, something that pre-eminently typifies sturdiness and strength we instantly see the tall stately and sturdy "OAK", the one outstanding tree of our once mighty forests. Then the more we learn of the strength of those splendid men and women and the more we see in them the characteristics of the 'King' of the forest, we feel as does the author of this following poem that the tribute is a fitting one.

The Pettibon Oak

Oh mighty Oak, made strong by wind and storm,
A mighty soul made strong through toil and strife.
A tree men praise because of matchless form,
A soul transfigured thru the stress of life.

As year by year your mounting soul aspired,
To tranquil heights in God's supernal blue-
Your lofty soul in peace and love attired,
Became a shrine where love lights shimmered thru.

Oh grant 'Oak' of matchless might and worth,
Long may your branches wave against the sky.
Long may your children o'er the earth,
Rejoice as they your glories magnify.

Long live the Pettibon Oak. Long wave our tree
O'er this great land in might and majesty.
Sing loud- sing loud oh children in great glee,
Because of noble, christian ancestry.
