In this book are the epitaph of John White Jun'r on page 147 (listed in this history under his name) and list of the Members, including the White family members, of the Middle Octorara Presbyterian Church, which was established August 7, 1727 by a group of Scotch-Irish settlers, and described below:

On page 53, the following notes: Minutes in the book containing the minutes of the Sessions during the pastorate of Reverend Joseph Barr (1823-1844) who succeeded Reverend Samples as pastor of Middle Octorara Church. "Roll communicants at beginning of Reverend Joseph Barr's pastorate" (1823). They were therefore members during the Sample pastorate: we suppose most of them unite with the church under his guidance (1781 - 1821 pastor).

The Union Presbyterian Church, Oxford, Pennsylvania, History Book, page 133 contains the following statement: "It is a matter of record that five generations of the White family have given support to Union Church since John White first made his contribution to bring about a union between Seceders and Presbyterians in 1811."

6. Note in the front of the John White Family Bible, Edition 1812, is as follows:

"Bought by John White October 20, 1813, Bart Township, Lancaster County Pa.

This John White was my Great grandfather. He was married Oct 24th 1789 to Catharine Sprowl who died July 2nd, 1843 in her 82nd year of age. This bible came to their son Samuel White whose daughter Annie gave it to Ada R. MacMillan (grand daughter of William White) and the latter presented it to me, on June 8th 1924, in Lancaster Pa. on the 78th anniversary of the death of the above John White who died June 8th 1846, in the 86th year of his age

James D. White"

7. There is a small note taped to one of the family pages in the center of this bible which is quoted here:

"Yourself and family, are invited to attend the Funeral of

from the residence of his son, Samuel White, West Orange St., TO-MORROW AFTERNOON, (Tuesday,) 4 o'clock.

Monday, June 8th, 1846

Observation: John and his family were devout Presbyterians. Their last address was on West Orange Street in Lancaster. The only Presbyterian Church in Lancaster still exists on East Orange Street and was called the English Presbyterian Church early on. I have found no record of their burial in any cemetery in or near Lancaster County. I suspect that John, Catharine, and Isabella, the eldest daughter, are all buried in the English Presbyterian Cemetery, next to the church, at the time of their deaths in 1846, 1843 and 1840 respectively. Other family members are known or suspected to be buried there. Unfortunately, for research purposes, the cemetery was covered over in 1889 by the Evans Chapel and an education building behind it. Two known attempts were undertaken to identify all the people buried there but many were buried under many feet of dirt as part of the support for the buildings above and never identified. There are 279 names and an additional 82 more initials on a plaque on a wall in the "cemetery room" under the chapel and next to a wall near the original cemetery. This list includes John Hervey White, son of Samuel and Hanna A. White and three others.

Notes for CATHARINE SPROUL:

Note in the original John White's Bible that Catharine White departed this life July 2nd 1843 in the Eighty second year of her age.

Note: I have seen her maiden name spelled "Sproul and Sprowl" throughout my research from different resources. In the John White Family Bible it is "Sprowl". Her grandson's middle name is Sproul and there is a road crossing Bell Road, where the White Family farms were, called Sproul Road also.

Children of JOHN WHITE and CATHARINE SPROUL are:

- i. ISABELLA² WHITE, b. 10 Dec 1791; d. 15 Apr 1840, Lancaster City, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania.

Notes for WILLIAM R. WHITE:

1. Notes for William R. White excerpted from the History of Ashland County, Ohio, 1909, by Baughman; located in the library of the Ashland County Chapter, Ohio Genealogical Society.

" William R. White came to Ashland County, Ohio in 1864 and purchased a farm of 200 acres in Milton Township, living there until his death. In spite of many reverses in the way of fires, etc. he won a gratifying measure of prosperity in his business undertakings. He did not hoard his capital, however but used it freely in providing his children with food, educational advantages and opportunities and also in aiding the poor. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church which he faithfully attended and served as an elder of for more than 40 years. Though the church was three miles from his home and the weather was often inclement, he never failed to be in his accustomed place at religious service. His life may well serve as an example for others to follow being characterized by integrity, purity, and uprightness in all relations. The community mourned the loss of one of the most respected and honored citizens when he passed. William was a native of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania and his wife was a native of Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania."

2. Rev. Barr Note: Appears to be the same as William R. of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania who moved to Ashland, Ohio had a middle initial of "R" and was deceased before 1910. Hanna's middle name was Eva.

Lexington Ave., died Saturday evening (May 8, 1993) at Meridian Nursing Center, West Lake, where he had been a resident for about 3 1/2 years. He was born Sept. 2, 1900, in Leesburg. 2. "Mortician 50 Years in Business - The Elkhart Truth, June 9, 1978, pp16

In 1928, Dale White came to Elkhart from Cleveland to join his uncle's funeral home business. Fifty years later, White is the dean of the Elkhart area morticians. White and the uncle Fred M. White, operated a funeral home on the corner of Second and Lexington Streets, where the General Telephone building stands today. White and his uncle were partners until the elder's death in 1930. Then White and his wife Treva, were equal partners until she died in 1967. Since that time, White has been the sole proprietor of White Funeral Home, 221 W. Lexington Ave. White learned the trade from his uncle, and he and his wife were licensed undertakers. There were four other funeral homes in Elkhart 50 years ago, just like today, White said. One of the differences between the business now and in 1928 is that embalming used to be done in the home, White said. that was before a state law required it to be done in the funeral home, he said. Services were almost always held in the family's home 50 years ago, he said. All of Elkhart's funeral homes used to run ambulances services, White said, but he sold his equipment to an ambulance company about 14 years ago, he said. White said he never thought too seriously about quitting the business once he began, because "when a young person person invested that much money in it he just stuck with it." The cost of beginning a funeral home today is much higher, White said, and most young people who begin in the business are relatives of someone who already operates one. White said the hours were longer 50 years ago than today, because of advancements in the field, but he said he needs to keep working. "I never really had the time for any hobbies," he said, so working is his chosen way of keeping busy."

During the years of his work among the lumbermen of the north-west he endeared himself to them and to the hearts of the christian people of the entire state. Miss Plucker, a guest at the Lutheran Home, Topton, since November 1965, and her sister now of Mansfield, Ohio have been chatting the time away since Saturday, when Mrs. White arrived by airplane. She was flown to Reading to spend the week with her sister as a gift from her grandchildren.

Miss Plucker was employed by Wilkinson Laundry for 66 years prior to her retirement in 1961. Her sister also worked for the company until she married.

Born in Reading, on Cherry street on Feb. 16, 1880 they are identical twins. Their parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. William A. and Susan (Bowers) Plucker also were natives of the Reading area.

When asked to what they owe their long life, Mrs. White replied, "It must be my sense of humor, everyone says so".
