Joan Pletincks Machek

Church organist for 50 years

J o a n
Pletincks Machek, 79, of McDonald, entered into the presence of her Lord and Savior

Jesus Christ Friday, January 29, 2016, with her family by her side.

She battled with Alzheimer's for 17 years and is now victorious, whole and enjoying her heavenly reward.

Mrs. Machek was born July 13, 1936, in McDonald, a daughter of Isabel and John R. Pletincks.

She was an executive secretary for more than 30 years, working at some of the largest accounting firms in Pittsburgh. Her strong work ethic and tenacity made her an outstanding employee and a wonderful example for her children and grandchildren who carry on her legacy.

Mrs. Machek was a life-long member of the former McDonald Christian & Missionary Alliance Church (now Cross Connections), where she served as church organist and a volunteer for 50 years and as assistant treasurer.

She was a devoted mother and grandmother and took great pleasure in the company of her family. She faithfully cooked elaborate Sunday dinners for the entire family and relished the time the family spent singing hymns while she played the organ. Another great joy for her was the time spent with the entire Pletincks clan in Ocean City, Md., for the annual family vacation, which has occurred for more than 60 years and continues today.

In 1956, she married the love of her life, Martin Machek, who died in August 2001. She missed him terribly and longed for the day when she would join him in Heaven. Her dog, Frosty, brought her great comfort during this time.

Surviving are daughters, Marta Zak (Ron) of Ambridge and Connie Hart (Wayne) of Waynesburg, and sons, Daniel Machek (her favorite), of McDonald, and Michael Machek (Danielle) of Bulger; six grandchildren, Leslie Maxin (Ben), Stacy Sassaman (Andy), Bethany Janicki (Ronnie), Stephen Zak (Sarah), Daniel Zak (Melinda) and Mary Hart; and eight great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Machek also provided love, support and a "home base" for many of her nieces and nephews.

Surviving siblings are the Rev. David Pletincks (Alice) of Florida, Connie Mindek (Douglas) of New Jersey and sister-in-law Huguette Pletincks of Florida.

Deceased, in addition to her husband, is her brother, John R. Pletincks.

There will be no public viewing or funeral because her body is being donated to West Virginia University Medical School as a tribute to her giving nature and to be used for medical research.

A memorial service to celebrate her life will be held in the spring at the convenience of her remote family.

To honor her memory, the family suggests donations be made to 2nd Sam 9 Inc., 290 W. High Street, Waynesburg, PA 15370, or at www.2ndsam9.org.

Mr. Malone served as a member of Company G, 110th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry. He ran away from home at the age of 18 years to join the Union forces, and served until the completion of the war. For a number of years he had the distinction of being the last Union soldier surviving in the neighborhood.

Last year his birthday anniversary was celebrated by a large gathering at his home. This year, however, his health was not so good and it was felt best to permit the day to pass without undue excitement, and no celebration was held.

Mr. Malone was the father of 14 children, four of whom are deceased; and he leaves 35 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

The community mourns the passing of a grand old man and one of the oldest and most esteemed citizens.

Death of James Marquis, Jr.

DIED:—Near Dinsmore Station, on Friday, March 28th, 1890, James Marquis, Jr., aged sixteen years.

The subject of this notice was a young man of more than ordinary stature and strength for one of his years. Just eight days before his demise, on his return from the funeral of Mrs. McQuiston, he said to his mother: "Mother, it seems so hard that poor Sadie must be put under the snow," never thinking that the sod would soon be upturned to make his narrow bed. A particular trait of the deceased was his constant endeavor to do a kindness to some one, whether a friend or stranger. He was not only kind and obliging, but pleasant and gracious in his manner, winning the affections of those with whom he came in contact. He was a home boy, ready and willing to help at any task, and turn his hand to any work. His sickness came suddenly, and death was so unexpected. But he bore his intense suffering with heroic Christian fortitude, and died as only a Christian can die, willingly and triumphantly in the faith of the gospel. Although he has passed beyond the dark river into "the better land" and has escaped what might have been long and weary years, yet the desire of those who loved him, was to keep him longer with them, that they might enjoy his company and friendship. Those who had an especial interest in his future welfare were anxious that he should be prepared to be a minister of the gospel and were looking forward with bright anticipations when he should start on the mission of bringing dying men to the world's Redeemer. But the great Teacher called him to himself; and although the stroke is sharp and the burden heavy, we have the assurance that he liveth and will one day come again when the angel voice calleth him, and saith, "awake and sing, ye that dwell in the dust."

Good by, Jimmie. We pine for thy voice and long to look once more into thy pleading eyes, and to hear again thy familiar step. We may call for thee, but thou canst not come. We give thee to thy God—the God that

FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT ENDS DAY FOR VISITOR

Carnegie Girl Dies From Injuries
in Wreck Following Holiday Celebration Here

Miss Nettie Marr, aged 30 years, of Carnegie was fatally injured in an automobile accident occurring on the road between Burgettstown and Midway Thursday evening, following the close of Memorial Day activities at Burgettstown shortly after 4 o'clock.

The accident was investigated by Corporal W. G. McKee, of the New Eagle detachment of the State Police. He stated that a warrant for the arrest of James Nairn, of Carnegie, would be issued, charging that he was driving without a license.

Miss Marr was riding in the rumble seat of the Nairn automobile, along with Miss Grace Langer, of Carnegie, who suffered slight hurts. First reports were that Mrs. Myrtle M. Nairn, of Carnegie, was driving the car, but Corporal McKee stated he had evidence to show that her husband was at the wheel, although he did not have a license to operate a machine. The fifth person in the Nairn car was Matthew Kuchansky, also of Carnegie.

The Nairn party had been at Burgettstown for Memorial Day exercises at the cemetery and was returning to McDonald for festivities to be held at that place. The Nairn car is said to have started to pull around a truck ahead operated by James Litchman of Carnegie. The machine sideswiped, the Nairn car overturning.

Miss Marr was caught under the machine as it overturned, being terribly crushed about the chest. She was rushed to the office of a physician at Midway and then to the Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh. She died a few moments after being admitted at the hospital.

EMPLOYEE LOSES LIFE AT LANGELOTH PLANT

John Martin of Burgettstown Found
Dead by Burning in Accident
Which is Unexplainable

John Martin, aged 56 years, an old resident of Burgettstown and a veteran employee of the American Zinc & Chemical Co. at Langeloth, met an accidental death at the Chemical works plant about 7 o'clock Monday evening.

There were no witnesses to the fatality, and the cause is only conjectural, but it is believed Mr. Martin was overcome by fumes while at work about a gas producer, or in some manner fell against a "poke ball," which permitted burning gas to escape from the producer and envelop his body. This flame may have ignited oil which burned the man's clothing and seared his entire body.

The furnace fireman, working a distance away, saw the flames of the burning oil and hastily sounded the fire alarm and then ran to see what had happened. He found Mr. Martin dead and badly burned about the body. The body was brought to the funeral home of Lee & Wilson and prepared for burial.

The deceased was born at Colliers, W. Va., and had lived in the local community for more than 20 years, during which time he had been employed at the Lanegloth plant. His long experience there would appear to have made him familiar with any situation arising from gas fumes, and some are inclined to the belief that a fall had been responsible for the accident. He had gone to work at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, for an 8-hour period.

Surviving family members are his widow and three sons and a daughter, George, Alvey and Ralph, and Mrs. Don Whalen. Alvey and Ralph reside at the late home of their father. W. D. Martin of Main street is a brother, and Mrs. Charles Gamerod of Carnegie is a sister.

Funeral services were held in the Burgettstown Christian church on Wednesday afternoon. Interment was made in the Florence cemetery.

Bulger Woman Regains Sight Dies On Way To Thank Doctor

Mrs. Eva Matchett, 70, of Smith Township, Bulger, R. D. 1, whose eyesight was restored after a month's blindness, died of a heart attack in Pittsburgh yesterday while she was on her way to express gratitude to her doctor.

Mrs. Matchett noticed her eyesight failing months ago and was told by doctors that she was suffering from a corneal ailment. Doctors advised an operation.

On October 31, the operation was performed in Montefiore Hospital and her eyes were bandaged to await the proper moment to determine the results.

Yesterday morning, a tense group of doctors and nurses watched as a surgeon slipped the bandage from Mrs. Matchett's eyes.

"I can see. I can see," she cried.

Mrs. Matchett was able to see clearly and strongly enough to identify people and doctors termed the operation successful and agreed she could leave the hospital.

Her son, Charles Matchett, and his wife, appeared shortly before noon to drive her home. Mrs. Matchett insisted upon being driven to her doctor's downtown Pittsburgh office to express her gratitude.

While waiting for an elevator in the lobby of the Jenkins Arcade, where the doctor had his offices, Mrs. Matchett collapsed and was taken unconscious to the eye surgeon's office, where she was pronounced dead of a heart attack.

Mrs. Matchett, widow of John Matchett, a farmer, who died in 1924, had resided in Smith Township for 55 years. She was a member of the Raccoon Presbyterian Church.

She was born in Ohio, April 8, 1874. Surviving are two children,

Mrs. Charles Neal, of Bulger, R. D. 1, and Charles Matchett, with whom she made her home; two brothers, Luther Davis, of New Concord, O., and Ezra Davis, of Canton, O., and one grandchild.

With the exception of a few years she lived at Wooster, Ohio, with her husband, the late John B. May, her entire life had been spent near the scene of her birth. The husband died five days after the celebration of their golden wedding anniversary in 1904.

Mrs. May was a well known and highly respected member of a generation long forgotten. For many years her name has been familiar in the Burgettstown district as well as throughout the county. She was a survivor of critical times in the history of the nation and the local community. The framing of the Constitution, the settling of the western frontier and the Whiskey Rebellion in Pennsylvania were events contemporaneous with her early youth.

Her recollections of early times and noted personages of the remote past were interesting sources of reminiscence with visitors during her later years. She knew the history of Washington county as it is known to few, and she was an outstanding authority for many years on local history.

Her only children, girl twins, died in infancy. Her sole surviving near relative is a brother, C. L. Reed of Houston. Among distant relatives are numbered U. S. Senator David A. Reed of Pittsburgh, and Ex-Senator James A. Reed of Missouri. Her father, she told, had two brothers, James and Alexander. James was the great-grandfather of "Senator David," while Alexander was granddaddy to "Senator Jim," she said.

Funeral services were held from the late home in Houston on Saturday and the funeral was largely attended. And thus passes another prominent figure from the historic past.

Jane Ann Reed May
Daughter of Early Pioneer Family, Age 103 Years
Died-December 13, 1934

Granddaughter of 'Squire', Said to Have Fined George Washington, Dies

Jane Ann Reed May, who would have been 104 years old December 28, and was the granddaughter of the Scotch-Irish squire who tradition says imposed a fine of five shillings on General George Washington for profanity, died yesterday at the home of her brother, C. L. Reed, of Houston. She would have been 104 years old December 28.

Mrs. May, who spent almost all of her long years in Cecil Township, had enjoyed seemingly remarkable health until a few days ago when she contracted cold. It became aggravated and she declined rapidly. She had made her home with her brother in Houston just a little more than a year.

Except for impaired sight and hearing, the venerable woman had suffered no form of disability with the mounting years.

Funeral services have been arranged for Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Reed home in Houston, with her pastor, the Rev. C. T. Littell, pastor of the Venice United Presbyterian Church in charge. Burial will follow at Venice.

In the passing of Mrs. May one conjures up the wraith of a forgotten generation, harks back to the days of the settling of a western frontier and to the sturdy forefathers who founded a new outpost and settled a wilderness country.

Mrs. May came from a lineage that knew and entertained George Washington, that figured prominently in the framing of the Constitution, went through the Whiskey Insurrection and reared a family that sent two descendants to the United States Senate and contributed members to all of the great professions.

On the farm where she was born and but a few miles from the spot where General Washington was entertained by her grandfather and promulgated his order to "squatters" to vacate the land which he claimed as a part of "Washington lands" given him in patents issued by Virginia, Mrs. May lived the greater part of her life. Here was a cycle which knew rugged privations, love, romance and fulfillment of dreams. It knew sorrow too as her husband, John B. May, to whom she was married December 20, 1854, died five days after their golden wedding anniversary. She, who knew the spinning wheel, grain flail, and other early implements of commerce and existence lived to see the automobile, radio and telephone and heard the giant airplanes zooming over her home carrying the mail which once was borne by "Pony Express" and the stage coach.

The years have brought a melancholy for the memory of George Washington, who about the time Mrs. May was born, was the subject of much adverse controversy in this section because of his arrogance and deposal of the early settlers. It was on the occasion of his visit to her grandfather about that time that Washington was assessed a fine and costs for blasphemy in the court of the "Scottish" Presbyterian justice of the peace of Washington County.

Mrs. May was the daughter of Joseph Reed and Anne McLean Reed and was born December 30, 1830, on the homestead established by her grandparents David and Margaret May Reed. These grandparents came from Lancaster County and when dispute arose over the title to the lands occupied by the Reeds and others, George Washington found a personal visit necessary to straighten the difficulties.

In his diary of September 20, 1784, he wrote: "David Reed: 2 acres of meadow; 17 acres of arable; a good logged dwelling house with a bad roof; several other small houses and an indifferent barn or stable; bad fences but very good land." Washington also wrote: "Dined at David Reed * * * and consulted with the settlers on these lands."

The settlers who believed they were the rightful owners refused to buy from Washington and were finally compelled to give up their possessions.

David Reed then bought 310 acres about five miles away from Thoma Waller. He paid one gun, one horse, one blanket and $19.97 in cash. This farm has remained in the Reed family since that time and with her brother Joseph Reed, was the home of Mrs. May until 1933.

Mrs. May's father had two brothers, James and Alexander. James was the great-grandfather of Senator David A. Reed of Pittsburgh, and Alexander was the grandfather of former Senator James A. of Missouri.

Today finis is written in this long and memorable life. There remains to mourn Mrs. May one brother, C. L. Reed, of Houston; many relatives, one or two generations removed, and a host of sorrowing friends, who looked upon her as an institution and the last connecting link with the early history of Washington County.

A Well Known Citizen Gone.

On Tuesday of last week Joseph F. Mayer, Esq., of West Alexander, died after a long illness. He had been a justice of the peace in that borough since 1862, and by reason of the large number of marriages at which he officiated he became widely known, personally and by reputation. He was born near where he died in 1814, and with the exception of a short business career at Wheeling, he resided there all his life. He was thrice married and was the father of four children, all of whom are dead.

The Squire married 2,632 couples and received in fees for his services $8,502.05. He kept a very elaborate record of this branch of his business, and it is said his widow will shortly issue a book containing many interesting facts and incidents in the life of this chief of matrimonial knot-tiers.

Terrible Death of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. McBride—Killed by the Fast Mail.

On Sabbath morning one of the most tragic events that ever happened in this community, occurred in the accidental death of Mr. and Mrs. Carrol A. McBride by a railroad train; an event which has cast a deep shadow over two homes and sent a thrill of horror through the whole community. Mr. and Mrs. McBride were but recently married; indeed the honeymoon had not yet waned. They were united in marriage November 16th, under the most auspicious circumstances and with the best wishes of a host of friends, and to-day, just four weeks after their marriage, they are being consigned to earth. The circumstances connected with their death are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. McBride went to housekeeping last Wednesday, Dec. 7th, at the home of the groom on his father's farm in Robinson township. Sabbath morning they started to go to church at Burgettstown in a sleigh. The fast mail west was late and they arrived at Raccoon crossing just as the train did. This is a very dangerous crossing, as persons crossing from the north side can see only a few feet along the eastern end of the track. The presumption is that, as the morning was cold, Mr. and Mrs. McBride were well bundled up, which prevented them from hearing the noise of the approaching train. They evidently did not hear or see it until they were on the track, if at all; for we understand the engineer and fireman say they just got a glimpse of the couple in the sleigh before the train struck them. He had slightly risen in his seat and was leaning forward in the act of whipping his horse, and she was sitting erect by his side. They were almost across. The train struck the sleigh just where they were sitting. The forward part of the vehicle was not damaged nor the horse injured in the slightest. Mrs. McBride was carried 105 feet up the track and fell between the two tracks.

Mr. McBride was carried almost as far, but was thrown across to the south side of the track, over the platform, striking the platform railing and breaking it off. Notwithstanding the fearful force with which they were struck, Mr. and Mrs. McBride were but slightly mutilated, which is a great comfort to their heart-broken friends.

Carrol A. McBride was the second son of Thomas McBride, of Robinson township, the elder son being Nathaniel, of Allegheny. Mr. McBride's first wife, Carrol's mother, has been dead for a number of years, and he married the second time. The present Mrs. McBride, with a young son and daughter, and Nathaniel, above-mentioned, now constitute Mr. McBride's family. Carrol was in his 29th year. He was to have taken charge of the home farm on Monday and carry on the business for himself.

Elsie Bell McBride was a daughter of Matthew R. and Mary Elizabeth Stephenson, of Burgettstown. One son—L. M., of King's Creek, and two daughters—Lizzie M. and Sara S., at home, are the other children. This was the first death in Mr. Stephenson's family, and the shock was especially severe to both families, coming as it did in so sudden and terrible a manner and at a time when the hearts of all their friends were warmed toward them with an added tenderness on account of the new relations they had just entered upon. Both of the sorrowing families have the sincere sympathy of a host of kind-hearted friends and neighbors.

The remains of the young couple were brought to Mr. Stephenson's residence, where they have lain until to-day, when the funeral takes place. Services will be held in the First Presbyterian church at 10:30 a. m., and the bodies taken from there to Robinson church, where services will be held at 2 p. m. Interment at the Robinson cemetery.

January 4, 1873-December 11, 1898 and July 10, 1869-December 11, 1898

The funeral of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. McBride last Wednesday was a remarkably large one. The first services were held in the First Presbyterian church at Burgettstown, and the large building was crowded. Every seat was occupied and a large number of people were standing in the aisles. It is estimated that there were between 750 and 1,000 people in the church. The services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. P. H. Gordon, assisted by Rev. Harry Nesbit, of Westminster church; Rev. A. W. Caldwell, of the First U. P. church; and Rev. Dunseith, of Robinson U. P. church. Five other ministers were in the congregation—Rev. D. W. Carson, D. D., Burgettstown; Rev. A. F. Alexander, of Florence; Rev. C. G. Williams, of Crosscreek; Rev. W. B. Smiley, D. D., and Rev. McBride, of Canonsburg. Services were also held at Robinson church, and were conducted by Rev. Caldwell, assisted by Rev. Dunseith. Interment in Robinson cemetery.

ALVIN E. MCCABE

Alvin Ezra McCabe, one of the best-known and most highly respected citizens of this part of the county, died suddenly at his home in Paris on Friday morning, December 18, 1914, at nine o'clock, aged 54 years. He had not been in good health for some time, but his condition was not regarded as serious and his death came as a sad surprise to a host of friends. On Sunday before his death he was seized with a spell of heart trouble, but a neighbor was with him at the time and applied remedies which caused him to soon rally. On Friday morning he was stricken much in the same manner and sent for the neighbor. He came and again eased Mr. McCabe's condition, and urged that the doctor be sent for. Mr. McCabe insisted that it was not necessary, saying he was feeling much better, but he had hardly made the statement when he fell back in the chair dead.

Alvin E. McCabe was the son of William and Harriet Brooks McCabe, and was one of twelve children. William McCabe was engaged in the mercantile business in Burgettstown more than seventy years ago. Leaving Burgettstown in 1843 he conducted a store in Florence for two years, then went to Paris, where he was in business until his death. Alvin McCabe was born in Paris and after his father's death took charge of the store there, which, with the exception of two years spent in Burgettstown 1909-1911, he personally conducted until his own death.

Mr. McCabe was a Republican and was rather well known in county politics. In 1906, when local option was the big issue, he was a candidate for assembly, but was defeated by a small vote. He was again an unsuccessful candidate for that office in 1908. He always was identified with the progressive movements and was a leader among the best elements of his party.

Deceased was twice married. His first wife was Anna White, of Hanover township. His second wife was Katherine Shipley, of near Paris, who survives with one daughter. He is also survived by two brothers and one sister—James E. McCabe, of Washington, D. C.; Charles B. McCabe, of Washington state, and Mrs. Nellie Magill, of Des Moines, Iowa. John D. McCabe, a brother, died in Burgettstown on September 7, 1909, and two sisters—Mrs. Hannah Hartford and Mrs. Jane Baty—are deceased since that time.

Mr. McCabe was a member of the Paris Presbyterian church and was active in all church work. He had been made a member of the publicity committee of the Peacock evangelistic campaign. The funeral was held from the Paris Presbyterian church Monday at 11 a. m. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Allen, having fallen that morning and broken a leg, was unable to officiate and Rev. Mr. Deeds, the M. E. minister of Hollidays Cove, had charge. The interment was in Paris cemetery.

ESTEEMED WOMAN OF HICKORY PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Margaret Brown McElroy
Aged 78 Years, Widow of
Dr. Joseph McElroy, Dies
After Brief Illness.

Hickory, July 11—Mrs. Margaret Brown McElroy, aged 78 years, widow of Dr. Joseph McElroy, passed away at her home here at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night, after a brief illness. She was one of the most widely known and most highly esteemed of the older women of Washington county, where she had lived practically her entire life, and had fulfilled the duties of a physician's wife for more than half a century.

Mrs. McElroy, who was the only daughter of the late David and Rebecca Borland Brown, was born near Noblestown, Allegheny county, in September, 1848, and was the last survivor of that family. Her brother, Matthew B. Brown, of near Hickory, passed away slightly more than a year ago. The mother died when Mrs. McElroy was a small child, and shortly afterward the father and children moved to the Mt. Pleasant township farm which was Mrs. McElroy's home, except for the period of her attendance at Beaver college, until her marriage to Dr. Joseph McElroy, of Hickory, on May 1, 1872.

Taking up the duties of a physician's wife with the enthusiasm and good cheer and fine understanding which marked her character, she was for more than 50 years a tower of strength to Dr. McElroy, to the merits of whose service there are many to testify.

Joining the Mt. Pleasant United Presbyterian church as a girl, under the pastorate of the late Dr. W. A. McConnell, Mrs. McElroy was long a teacher in the Sunday school, and always remembered with affection the boys who had been under her. Her interest in all the affairs of the church was keen, her fidelity recognized, and her generosity well known.

Surviving Mrs. McElroy are two daughters, Mrs. Leila M. Kithcart, of Steubenville, O., and Mrs. W. C. Moore, of this place; and one grandson, Billy Moore.

The funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the church of which she was so long a member, conducted by her pastor, Rev. Charles Stunkard, assisted by Rev. D. B. Davidson, of the local Presbyterian church. The interment will be in Mt. Pleasant church cemetery.

ESTEEMED LOCAL LADY ANSWERS DEATH CALL

Mrs. Julia McMurray of Center Avenue Dies While Visiting Son's Home in Ohio

The people of Burgettstown are again called upon to mourn the passing of one of the town's most widely known and beloved residents, Mrs. Julia Moore McMurray, who died at the home of her son, William McMurray, at Costonia, Ohio, at 11 o'clock Thursday night, December 31st. She had been visiting in Ohio several weeks, and while her health had been failing for the past year her condition became critical only four days before her death.

Mrs. McMurray was the youngest of the six children of John Marshall and Sara Stevenson Moore. She was born February 26, 1856, near Waynesburg where the family had moved a short time before from the home now occupied by the Kaiser family in Burgettstown.

Both parents were of pioneer Washington county stock. One grandfather, William Stevenson was one of the few survivors of St. Clair's Defeat; one grand-uncle, James Marshall, was the second sheriff and had much to do with bringing law and order to the county. One great-grandfather, James Stevenson, was paymaster in Washington's army; another, Thomas Crawford, was a captive of the Indians for nine years of his boyhood. His mother, Margaret Crawford Shearer was the first adult buried in the old Cross Creek graveyard.

Mrs. McMurray was 16 when the family returned to Burgettstown, and she lived here the remainder of her life. On September 4, 1878, she was married to W. M. McMurray, who was a well known merchant of Burgettstown until he died in 1917.

She had been a member of the First Presbyterian church over 60 years. Her father had been a charter elder and her husband also an elder for many years. She was a charter member of the Missionary Society and Ladies Aid Society and for five years president of the Ladies Bible Class. She was also a member of the Order of the Eastern Star of Burgettstown.

She leaves a son, William McMurray of Costonia, Ohio, two daughters, Mrs. J. R. Malone and Mrs. R. M. Glenne both of Baltimore; four grandsons, James Malone of Detroit; Julian Purdy of Fort Monroe, Va., Scott and Paul McMurray of Costonia, and one greatgrandson, William Martin Purdy. Miss Nancy and Robert S. Moore are niece and nephew.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church of Bugettstown, in charge of her pastor, the Rev. R. E. Carman. Ritualistic services of the Eastern Star were held following the church service, in the church. The services were largely attended by members of the various groups of which Mrs. McMurray was a member and neighbors and friends from the countryside. Interment was at West Alexander.

She was held in high esteem by her associates in the groups.

Mrs. Emma Ferguson delivered an eloquent eulogy on the life of the departed member, and other appropriate exercises marked the occasion. Prayers and singing by the groups and solos by Mrs. A. A. W. M. McMurray Dead

W. M. McMurray, a resident of Burgettstown for 42 years, a storekeeper for 35 years, and a church elder for over 22 years, died at his home in Burgettstown, Wednesday afternoon, March 28, 1917, at three o'clock, of apoplexy, aged 71 years. Mr. McMurray was stricken early Tuesday morning and did not rally. He was in his usual health when he retired Monday night, being in his store that day and in the evening accompanying his wife to view the remains of Dr. Riddile, a friend and fellow church elder, who had died the day before. He awoke at about six o'clock the next morning, and arising from his bed, greeted different members of the family in his customary cheery manner. A short time later, while sitting in his chair, he complained of a pain in the back of his head, and after a few more words of conversation he lapsed into unconsciousness, in which condition he remained until his death the following afternoon.

William Martin McMurray was a son of William McMurray and was born near West Alexander, this county, April 21, 1846. He was educated in the common schools and at West Alexander academy, and lived with his father on the farm until coming to Burgettstown in 1875. After coming here he was engaged in the drug business with his brother, Henry B. McMurray. He then followed live stock buying and selling for a time, and had been in the mercantile business for the past 35 years continuously, conducting a general store in the south end of town. For the first ten years of that period W. F. Scott was associated with him as a partner. Since Mr. Scott's retirement from the firm Mr. McMurray had continued the business, being assisted of late years by his son William.

THREE BOYS OF BERTHA MEET DEATHS IN STORM

Youngsters Taking Refuge Under a Tree During Storm Lose Lives
From Bolt of Lightning

Two brothers and a playmate, watching cattle from straying on a small farm near Bertha, were killed Sunday afternoon when lightning struck a large tree under which they sought shelter from a heavy rain-storm which swept the district.

The victims were Nick Meholic, 12, and his brother, Samuel, 10, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Meholic, and Mike Roman, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Roman.

An elderly man, Benny Torko, 60, sitting near the boys at the time, was only slightly shocked.

The three boys had spent the early part of the afternoon watching the cattle. When the storm appeared, Mrs. Roman hurried from her house to call the boys in.

When she neared the scene, she saw Torko struggling to rise and then discovered the body of her son. The two brothers were lying a few feet away.

Mrs. Roman picked up her son and carried him in her arms to the house a mile distant. A general alarm was raised and soon a physician and members of the Burgettstown Fire Department, with a pulmotor, arrived at the scene.

Dr. A. O. Hindman pronounced the three boys dead and the pulmotor was not employed. The bodies were removed to the Lee & Wilson funeral home here.

The farm on which the tragedy occurred is located on the property of the Hanover Coal Company. Both fathers of the children are miners but have not been working steady, it was stated.

This tragedy in the Meholic family was the third death in a year, another son having been killed by a train at Bertha, July 13, 1932.

Triple funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon. Interment was in the Fairview cemetery.

FORMER LANGELOTH RESIDENT FATALLY BURNED IN MISHAP

Bereavement for the second time in less than six months came to the Melvin family of Ambridge, former well known Langeloth residents when their son, Alfred Donald Melvin, 26, was burned to death in a horrible truck accident on the Turnpike last Wednesday morning. Alfred's brother, John, was drowned at Fort Bragg on September 17.

The young man was a driver for the Eazor Express company of Ambridge, transporters of steel to eastern war centers. He was forced to leave his truck on the roadside and had returned to Ambridge for some repair parts and was making the return trip with another driver, Albert Feigue, 21, of Ambridge, who was seriously injured. Melvin was asleep in the bunk in the truck, when the accident occurred at 5:30 in the morning, as was John Swain of Ambridge, who was hitchhiking to Philadelphia to secure work. Swain had recently returned from the Panama Canal Zone and just two weeks ago his wife had given birth to a baby.

The truck collided with two other trucks, which were parked on the highway for repairs. The Eazor truck was loaded with steel and it is believed that in the crash that followed, steel was driven into the gas tank and an explosion followed.

Private funeral services for Melvin were held from the home of his sister Mrs. Dorothy Reynolds of Langeloth last Friday afternoon by the Rev. Leslie Van InWegan. Interment was in Fairview cemetery.

The young man is survived by his widow, Stella Kosek Melvin, formerly of Atlasburg, and three small children, Carol Ann, 4; Ralph Donald, 3; and Alfred, Jr., 18 months; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Melvin of Ambridge, formerly of Langeloth; a sister, Mrs. Reynolds of Langeloth; two brothers, Frank W. of Neville Island and Ralph, Jr., and a sister, Carol Jean, at home.

April 25, 1929, of cerebral hemorrhage, in her 92nd year. She was ill but half an hour. Years of her vitality had been sapped by very severe burns suffered a year before. Her father, a farmer, flat boated to New Orleans and was a trustee of Bethany College. Her mother was a niece by marriage of Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star Spangled Banner," and full cousin of Elizabeth Patterson who married Jerome, younger brother of Napoleon Bonaparte.

When the noted Confederate raider John Morgan, was making his raid in eastern Ohio, Mrs. Melvin was left in charge of the farm house of her uncle, Jesse Linton, in Jefferson County. Col. Morgan came to her and demanded food for himself and men. Dishes being prepared for dinner and other eatables were got together and set before them. One raider asked for boiled eggs and biscuit, he was told to hunt for the eggs and found several. He gave Mrs. Melvin a pair of cuff buttons as a memento. Not long after the raiders left Col. Shackelford and Union troops came along in chase of the raiders and wanted dinner. This was more gladly provided. Before the end of the day Morgan and his men were captured at Wintersville. They were taken from Steubenville to Bellaire in open cars, passing Bridgeport, where the double wooden bridge had been piled with hay, intended to fire the bridge to keep Morgan out of Wheeling.

WILLIAM MELVIN.

William M. Melvin.

William M. Melvin, 67 years old, formerly of Burgettstown, died last night at 7:30 o'clock at his residence, 169 Flowers avenue, Hazelwood. He is well known as a historian of this end of the State and as an educator in Washington county. Mr. Melvin was born in Burgettstown and lived there most of his life. He was identified with the educational interests of his native county for over 40 years, and for most of that time was principal of the Burgettstown public schools. He was the author of Melvin's "History of Burgettstown," a history of that section from colonial times to the time when it was written, some years ago. Mr. Melvin was a member of the Washington County Historical society, to which he contributed a history of Washington county. He was a member of the Richard Vaux lodge, Free and Accepted Masons, No. 454, of Burgettstown, and was for 30 years secretary of that lodge. He was an active member of the Christian church. He married Miss Rachel Hyndman, a native of Maryland, and she and four sons survive him. They are E. H. Melvin, of 2450 Wylie avenue; James L. and John M., publishers of the Claysville "Record," and George M., connected with the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. A sister, Mrs. F. S. Saxon, of New Florence, and a brother, John M. Melvin, of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, also survive him.

WILLIAM MELVIN DEAD.

A Prominent Educator and a Historian of Much Note Passes Away.

William Melvin, almost a life-long resident of Burgettstown and one of the oldest and best-known educators of Western Pennsylvania, died at his home at 169 Flowers avenue, Pittsburg, on Thursday evening, February 11, 1904, in the 68th year of his age. His death was due to heart trouble, though he had been broken in health for some months. He had been confined to bed three or four weeks.

Mr. Melvin was a native of Burgettstown, and had spent most of his life here, going to Pittsburg less than a year ago. He was a son of John and Mary (Moore) Melvin, and was born January 8, 1837, in the old David Bruce house, which stood on the lot now occupied by Mr. Melvin's late residence. At the early age of 17 he began teaching school. From "A Century of Education," an interesting book which the deceased published in 1898, we learn that his first teaching was assisting W. W. VanEman in Burgettstown three months of the term 1854-55. He took charge of his first school, No. 7, in Smith township, September 19, 1855. He quit teaching in the spring of 1863 to accept a position as clerk in a dry goods store in Chatham, Illinois. He resumed teaching in 1865, and continued until May 6, 1897. He had taught more than 45 years—one year in Schuyler county, Illinois; three years in Jefferson county, Ohio; four years in Brooke county, W. Va.; one year in Hanover township, this county, and the remainder of the time in Smith township and Burgettstown. He taught five years in Burgettstown before its incorporation and five years for the school board of the borough of Burgettstown. He taught in Burgettstown the public terms of 1858-59, 1860-61 and 1861-62; the summer terms of 1858, 1861 and 1862; principal of the Union school 1875-76 and 1876-77, and the summer terms of 1875 and 1876; assistant principal public terms of 1886-87, 1887-88 and 1888-89; principal 1890-91 and 1891-92. He was employed by the Smith township school board in 1862 to teach No. 4, and taught six days, when the building was burned. This was during the Civil War, after he had served for a short time as Deputy U. S. Marshall. He removed from the state and returned in 1871. He was a member of the first school board in the borough of Burgettstown, being elected for three years, and served as secretary of the board during that time.

Mr. Melvin was engaged in the building of the railroad through here in the early sixties, and helped in making the fill at Patterson's dump, where he was run over by a cart and badly injured. He did police duty at the first fair held by the Union Agricultural Association. He later served 24 years as secretary of that association. He was a member of Richard Vaux Lodge, No. 454, F. & A. M., and had served as secretary of that lodge for 30 years. He had also been a member and secretary of the local Board of Health. He was elected county auditor in 1884, and re-elected in 1887. In 1900 he was appointed as clerk in the census department at Washington, D. C., where he and his wife removed. His duties kept him there 20 months, returning to Burgettstown in May, 1902. In March, 1903, he removed to Pittsburg. He was a delegate from the county convention in 1860, 1880 and 1900—a coincidence in that just twenty years elapsed between each election. He had been nominated and was a candidate for judge of election in the 8th district, 23d ward, Pittsburg, at the election yesterday. Recently he had been elected as a member of the Washington County Historical Society.

Mr. Melvin was regarded as authority on all matters of local history. He took a keen delight in such work, and had recorded from time to time all important matters pertaining to our town and her people; he kept a record of all who attended school to him, and followed their future so far as was possible, recording their marriage, death, or anything of interest that developed in their lives. His work has been of much value to our town, and all sincerely mourn his death. Particularly will he be missed by THE ENTERPRISE, whose best friend he was and to which he contributed much interesting matter. Others might undertake to carry out his work, but none could do it quite so skillfully and completely as did William Melvin.

Mr. Melvin was united in marriage on June 16, 1864, to Rachel Hyndman, of Lagrange (now Brilliant), Ohio. She and four sons survive. The sons are Ernest H., druggist, Pittsburg; J. Loring and John L., editors of the Claysville Recorder, and George E., a fireman on the B. & O. railroad. He is also survived by one brother and a sister—John M. Melvin, of Pittsburg, and Mrs. S. S. Saxton, of Florence. Dr. S. W. Saxton, of Burgettstown, is a nephew.

Mr. Melvin was a member of the Hazelwood Christian church. His pastor being absent from the city, Rev. C. L. Thurgood, of the Central Christian church, conducted services at the late residence on Friday evening. On Saturday the remains were brought to Burgettstown and services held in Westminster Presbyterian church at 11 a. m., conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. Mont. Travis. The interment was made in the Fairview cemetery.

HURTS ARE FATAL TO ALDEN MILLER

Injuries sustained in a race at the Burgettstown Fair last Saturday afternoon proved fatal to Alden Miller, 49, a well known farmer and horseman of Jefferson Township, in the Washington Hospital yesterday at 4:52 a. m., Following the accident Mr. Miller was rushed to the hospital for an emergency operation, but his condition was so critical physicians gave the family no encouragement from the first.

Mr. Miller, a son of the late T. A. and Ella S. Wells Miller, was born on the old Miller homestead in Jefferson Township, three miles north of Independence, October 6, 1887. He was one of a family of five children. The father established the Bancroft Stockfarm and specialized in breeding fast horses, and had developed some of the best race horses in the country. Following the father's death the son carried on the farm and continued the breeding of fast horses. Colonel Drew, one of the horses this year has won 11 races on the grand circuit. Mr. Miller was driving one of his horses in a race at Burgettstown Saturday when a collision took place just after leaving the wire at the start. Mr. Miller was pitched from his sulkey among the horses and suffered internal injuries that caused his death.

The Miller family were among the pioneers in Jefferson Township and took up land there when Indians still roamed about. The fifth generation now resides on the farm. In politics Mr. Miller was a Democrat and held the offices of school director and road supervisor in his township. He was also an active church worker and since childhood held membership in the Lower Buffalo Presbyterian Church at Independence. For more than 15 years he had served that congregation as an elder. Mr. Miller never married. He had a host of friends who will learn of his sudden death with much regret, as he had been a most useful citizen in his community.

Two sisters survive, Mrs. Thompson Hindman, Cleveland, and Mrs. Gilbert Anderson of Crafton; also a sister-in-law, Mrs. Amy Miller, and the following nephews and niece: Albert, Delvia, Orrin and Margaret Miller who reside at the Miller homestead, Lee and John Anderson of Crafton.

Funeral services will be held from Lower Buffalo Presbyterian Church at Independence Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. R. E. Kaufmann, pastor of Cross Creek Presbyterian Church. The body will be at the church at 1 o'clock. Burial will be in Cross Creek Cemetery.

MRS. MARY MILLER DEAD AT HOUSTON IN NINETY-NINTH YEAR

DAUGHTER OF MEMBER OF FIRST
TOWN COUNCIL OF CANONS-
BURG PASSES AWAY
SURVIVED HUSBAND 70 YEARS

Mrs. Mary Miller, the oldest resident of the central Chartiers valley, died at 8 o'clock Wednesday, December 15, at the home of her son-in-law, Alexander T. Haft, Pike street, Houston, in the 99th year of her age. Mrs. Miller's life linked the present with the remote past, her father, John Watson, having been a member of the first Town Council of Canonsburg, taking his office in 1802. Another remarkable feature of Mrs. Miller's long life was that she survived her husband, James Miller, threescore and ten years, he having died at Wooster, O., in 1845.

Mrs. Miller was born in Canonsburg October 12, 1817, in a house which still stands in North Central avenue, just above the campus of old Jefferson College. Her father was prominently connected with the affairs of the community, and besides serving as a member of the Town Council was a justice of the peace and at one time a school director, and served as Burgess of Canonsburg from 1830 to 1834. He owned the property on which the First National Bank now stands, and for many years this was known as Watson's corner. Mr. Watson was the village blacksmith of Canonsburg a century ago, and the shop in which he worked stood until the seventies, about on the site of the building in which now the VanEman hardware store is located. He was public spirited, and was a director in the old Pittsburgh Turnpike Company, which constructed the pike from Pittsburgh to Washington about 1817.

After her marriage Mrs. Miller and her husband removed to near Wooster, O., where the husband died within a few years, leaving his widow and two children, the late Andrew Miller, formerly a well-known farmer of Chartiers township, and Emma, who was the wife of A. T. Haft. After the death of Mr. Miller, Mr. Watson drove to Wooster and brought his daughter and her two children to Chartiers township, where they continued to live for many years. David T. Watson, the well-known attorney of Pittsburgh, is a cousin of the deceased.

Mrs. Miller had a retentive memory, and until a comparatively recent date retained all her faculties. She delighted to talk of the olden days. She was a woman of lovely character, and had many friends among the older residents of the community. She was a member of the United Presbyterian Church, at Houston.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2.30 in the Haft home in Houston. Interment will be private at a later hour in Oak Spring cemetery.

Robert Mason "Bob" Mills passed away peacefully Friday, December 27, 2013, in Kent, Wash. He had been battling cardiovascular disease and advancing dementia for a few years.

He was born April 7, 1924, in Duquesne, the second son of Dr. William Woolslaer McCleary Mills and Louisa Carr Rhodes Mills.

Deceased are his parents; his loving wife, Dorothy Frances Fiedler Mills, who passed in January 2006; and his youngest child, Thomas Randolph Mills, who died in November 1993. His older brother, William W.M. Mills Jr., passed in December 2003.

Surviving are son Robert Mason "Rob" Mills II and longtime partner Jon Perdue of Walnut Creek, Calif.; daughter Kathleen Lynn Mills Cheritt and partner Mark Lucas of Kent; sister-in-law Dorothy Strohsahl Fiedler of Holland, Pa.; nephew Richard Lionel Fiedler and wife Charlotte of Royersford; niece Janet Fiedler Andes and husband Bob of Richboro; and niece Mary Lou Mills and spouse Janet Roslund of Monongahela and The Villages, Fla.

With direct lineage to some of the earliest pioneers to cross the Allegheny Mountains in the early decades the 1700s, his roots can be traced through the Mills, McKinney, Snodgrass, Laird, Baldrige and McCleary families. Fifth great-grandfather Timothy Mills came from England and settled on Jamaica Bay, Long Island, New York, in 1656. Fourth great-grandfather Nathaniel Mills moved to Morristown, N.J., about 1700. His third great-grandfather, Matthew McKinney, was born in Elizabeth Township in 1744. His second great-grandfather, Stephen Mills, purchased about 400 acres along the Monongahela River in 1801, comprising what are now the Boroughs of Braddock and North Braddock.

His great-grandfather, Isaac Mills Sr., laid out the plan for the borough and was the first burgess of the new Borough of Braddock. The Isaac Mills family mansion stood on the brow of the hill along Mills Avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets. This stately home became Braddock's first hospital in 1902. The Mills family mausoleum still stands at the very center of Monongahela Cemetery in Braddock Hills, although the vaults have long been sealed. Grandfather Stephen Mills and great-uncle James Mills were founders and proprietors of Braddock Brick Works. Great uncle Charles Mills was founder and publisher of Braddock Daily News.

His father, Dr. William Woolslaer McCleary Mills, was a general practitioner and surgeon in Duquesne for many decades as well a chief of emergency services at McKeesport Hospital, head of pathology at Homestead Hospital and one of a very few doctors to maintain an active medical license in the state for more than 60 years. He really looked up to and admired his dad. His mother, Louisa Carr Rhodes, came from a prominent McKeesport family, who were proprietors of a dry goods business for many decades. His uncle, John Rhodes, served in the Pennsylvania Legislature for more than 20 years.

When he was born, the family lived at 217 North Second Street in Duquesne. He played stick-ball in the alley behind the house and worked summers at Kenywood Park. He graduated from Duquesne High School in spring 1941. He then spent the 1941-42 school year at Mercersburg Academy, a college preparatory boarding school in Franklin County, where he excelled at soccer and swimming.

Having reached the age of 18 in April 1942, he enlisted in the U.S. Army in summer 1942. He went off to flight school at Lackland Air Base in San Antonio, Texas, and earned his wings in 1944 as a second lieutenant. He was trained as a pilot of B-17, B-24 and B-25 bombers. Although he was never sent into action overseas, he loved to fly and always spoke of those years with great fondness for his captain and crew. He also looked up to his big brother, Bill, who was five years older and a captain and pilot in the U.S. Army Air Corps. He flew more than 25 missions across Europe and retired as a lieutenant colonel from the Air Force Reserve.

As a young man, his father, Dr. Will, would take him along to visit their 300-acre farm, really just woodland and meadows, in Fulton County, south of Harrison-ville, along Licking and Owl creeks, where they would hunt for fowl and small game. It was here where they would share the friendship of the Deshong and Strait families, which continues to this day.

Another treasured place he held close in his heart was a very rustic cold-water, two-room cabin along Medix Run, north of Clearfield. This is where he went deer hunting with his college fraternity brothers. It is a place his wife loved as well, and they spent some quiet time there every year.

After his military discharge, Mr. Mills enrolled at Grove City College. After one year, he transferred to Allegheny College, Meadville. There, he met his future wife, Dottie Fiedler, and made many lifelong friends. He majored in English for his bachelor of arts, and he was a fraternity brother at Phi Gamma Delta.

After they graduated from Allegheny in spring 1951, they were married September 22, 1951, at St. Mark's Methodist Church in Rockville Centre, Long Island, N.Y., the town where she had been raised and graduated from Southside High School.

That autumn, they settled into an apartment in Pittsburgh's Shadyside neighborhood and took the trolley downtown. Mr. Mills worked for the National Tube division of U.S. Steel, and Mrs. Mills was a secretary. In 1954, they moved to McGrann Hills in Peters Township in Washington County. With their third child, son TR, born in 1963, they had outgrown their small house on Highway View Road. They found a lovely acre of maple and elm trees on Robinhood Lane and built their dream house, a three-story colonial "in the woods" of Giant Oaks. They resided in Peters Township for more than 50 years.

Mr. Mills was an avid outdoorsman; he simply loved to be out-of-doors. He enjoyed to hunt, fish and camp, and he instilled and nurtured the enjoyment of the out-of-doors in his three kids and wife

Dottie, his self-proclaimed "child bride." He was a life member of the National Rifle Association and strong advocate of firearm safety. He was certified by the Pennsylvania Game Commission as a hunters safety instructor and conducted courses for many years. He was an excellent marksman, whether rifle, shotgun or pistol, and re-loaded most of his ammunition. He was a top-notch amateur photographer. Later in life, he went deer hunting with his .357 Magnum and his 35mm with telephoto zoom lens.

He was a member of the Outdoor Writers Association of America and wrote a weekly column called "Outdoor Outlook" for the Observer-Reporter in the 1970s. He was a protégé and friend of Dr. Roger Latham, who then was the outdoor editor of the Pittsburgh Press. He and his wife took the three kids in the Buick station wagon with the Starcraft tent-camper in tow and visited most of the National Parks in the Rocky Mountains, the Great Lakes, the Northeast and the Appalachians during the '60s and '70s. He was one of the founding committee members of Boy Scout Troop 320, sponsored by Trinity United Methodist Church in Peters Township, and taught merit badges in marksmanship, hunting and fishing.

After his retirement from U.S. Steel and his wife's retirement from Peters Township government as planning director, they enjoyed making trips to various places: the Eastern shore in summer, Maui and the Big Island of Hawaii, Ontario, Canada and the Great Lakes, the streams of West Virginia and to Washington and California states to see their kids. Their 50th wedding anniversary was spent with family in Rocky Mountain National Park along the Big Thompson River in Estes Park, Colo., in September 2001.

Many pictures of family and friends and other info will be posted on DotAndBobMills.com in the next few weeks. Children Kathy and Rob can be reached at Info@DotAndBobMills.com. The family suggests donations to Carnegie Free Library of Braddock (Carnegie's very first library), McKeesport Heritage Center, Western Pennsylvania Conservancy or National Wildlife Federation. As per his wishes, he has been cremated, and no memorial services are planned.

His family says Cheers! to him as he and his wife are together once again to enjoy a Pennsylvania martini.

MANY MOURN AT FUNERAL FOR NANCY MOORE

Funeral services over the remains of Nancy W. Moore, 64, who died suddenly in her home on Center avenue, Wednesday evening, February 28, were held from the First Presbyterian church on Saturday afternoon. The funeral sermon was preached by her pastor, Rev. R. E. Carman. Pall bearers were John and Thomas Linn, James Shillito, James Fredericks, John Stevenson and Wilbur Welch. Interment was made in the Presbyterian cemetery.

Miss Moore is believed to have been stricken with a heart attack while she was preparing to retire on Wednesday evening, and being alone in her home, her death was not discovered until friends entered the house on noon Thursday. It is believed that she had been lifeless for several hours. She is survived by her half-brother, Robert S. Moore of Burgettstown.

Nancy Moore was born July 6, 1876, on the old Proudfit homestead, near Raccoon, the daughter of John M. and Martha Proudfit Moore. She was educated in the Washington Seminary and graduated in 1896. In 1902 she was graduated from the Nursing School of the Presbyterian Hospital at Pittsburgh. She completed her nursing education with post-graduate work in the Woman's hospital in New York city and for several years thereafter engaged in professional work, both in the Presbyterian hospital and in private homes.

She followed the nursing profession until she accepted a position as companion and assistant to Miss Jean Adams of Pittsburgh, who was engaged in philanthropic school work in China. Later she made a second trip with Miss Adams to China, where they continued their work in 1925 and 1926.

Miss Moore was a member of the First Presbyterian church, an officer of the Rebekah Lodge and a charter member of the Friday club.

JOTTINGS of MLV

I should like to mark the passing of Miss Nancy Moore with fitting tribute, but there are times when one feels the utter futility of mere words. It seems to me that summing up Miss Nancy's many beautiful attributes of character and her good works, one can only say, "SHE WAS A GRAND PERSON".

Miss Nancy's place in the Community will be hard to fill. Her friendship so generously given was but one of many fine qualities in the life of a Christian woman. Her days were spent in doing for those about her. Her cheerful personality reflected itself always, when she was in the company of friends.

Miss Nancy, descended from a pioneer settler in this valley, a paymaster of General George Washington was justly proud of her ancestry and she was a living example of true American Democracy. More than any living person in this vicinity, today, she was informed concerning the early history of Burgettstown and had spent many hours assembling historical data. I hope it will be my privilege at an early date to publish her writings.

Miss Nancy was firm in her beliefs and was a staunch defender of her principles. She believed in the virtues of cleanliness, was a true follower of Florence Nightingale, just as surely as she believed and practiced the deeply spiritual teachings of her faith.

On the gentler side was a folksy wit that was a delight to her associates. While she lived her entire life, unmarried and without children of her own, there is deep sorrow in the hearts of many of the young people of this community who cherished for her a sincere devotion.

Her friends are legion. Her memory is a benediction to those who were privileged to have shared her abundant friendship.—MLV.

Horsemen by whom he had been employed included Dr. I. B. Reed, of Crafton, and J. A. Elliott, Pittsburgh. "Uncle Sam" was a pioneer driver at the Union Agricultural Association meet held annually here since he was a lad in his teens.

MURDER IS SUSPECTED IN LOCAL MAN'S DEATH

Felix Napoli Found in Store at Burgettstown Coal Settlement With Bullets in Head

While passing along his rounds in the Burgettstown Coal settlement delivering milk on Sunday morning, Willie Bundy, son of Dairyman Peter Bundy of Francis, discovered through an open door the body of Felix Napoli, 52 years of age, on the floor of Tony Vitalli's store. The young man notified Constable Mike Robb of Slovan, who communicated with county detectives and an investigation was immediately begun.

Dr. J. M. Boice, Burgettstown physician, was called and conducted a post mortum examination, finding the man had come to his death from two bullet wounds in the head. According to reports, a .38 calibre revolver was found near the body. Death is estimated to have occurred about 2:30 o'clock in the morning. The body was brought to the funeral home of Lee & Wilson, deputy coroners, of Burgettstown, and later sent to his late home near Crafon.

Tony Vitalli, a cousin of the dead man, who operates the store at Burgettstown Coal, was taken into custody by the officers and held for questioning. It appears Vitalli and Napoli had been together until a late hour Saturday night. It is stated they had been drinking at several places around Slovan. They went to Slovan, according to Vitalli, on a truck but he claims he is unable to recall how they returned.

It is understood the men had been contemplating a partnership in a saloon which they planned opening in the basement of Vitalli's home, and as far as is known were good friends. Rumors that they had been engaged in heated arguments during the evening have not been verified.

While the case presents a number of aspects of mystery, officers have not been inclined to make any definite statements relative to the cause of the fatal shooting.

Vitalli was found at his home at the settlement, and professed ignorance of the shooting when arrested.
