Eugene P. Raggi

Loving husband and father

Eugene P. Raggi, 88, of Slovan, died Friday, April 17, 2015, in his home, surrounded by his loving family.

He was born August 4, 1926, a son of the late Patsy and Ida Delfrate Raggi.

On November 27, 1952, in Our Lady of Lourdes Church in Burgettstown, he married the love of his life, Erma Jean Mavrich. They enjoyed 62 years of blessings.

Mr. Raggi enjoyed big band sounds, dancing and family vacations. He possessed a very strong faith, which was reflected in the way he lived. His home was his castle and happiness, and his children were his jewels. He was a loving and compassionate husband, father, grandfather and friend. His children were the pride of his life. He was blessed with 11 grandchildren and loved them dearly. He faithfully attended their sporting and special events. He was very patient, full of love and admiration and was always offering advice, encouragement and support. He taught how to live with integrity, honesty, hard work and generosity. He gave a lot and expected little in return. He will live forever in their hearts.

During World War II, while in high school, he was called to serve in the U.S. Navy at the San Diego Naval destroyer base. After being discharged, he attended Penn Commercial College and graduated in 1948 with a business degree. One of his proudest moments was when Burgettstown Area School District awarded diplomas to 15 former students who served in the U.S. Armed Forces during World War II. These students were not able to complete their formal education with their graduating class since they were proudly called to serve in the U.S. Armed Services.

His business career began when he was 13 years old with the family operation of Raggi's Market in Slovan. In 1948, he purchased the market from his parents and continued to serve the community for 21 years. He went to work each day in a white starched shirt and apron and tirelessly cut the finest meats for all of his faithful customers. He was truly loved by so many. In 1973, he established Raggi Home Improvement Co., which began with blown insulation and went on to include all types of home remodeling. His son, Eugene, worked side-by-side with his father, and was instrumental in the further development of the company.

In 1978, a home remodeling office was opened in Washington whereby the business could expand with the assistance of his devoted son. In 1989, he was also the driving force in the opening of the Raggi Home Improvement office in Weirton, W.Va., whereby Lou Comis joined the team, adding a new dimension to the already successful company. He was a positive influence in the community and he served a part in making great strides in aesthetic development. Over 5,000 jobs have been completed to date marking new construction and rehab of the old. His goal was perfection in all of his work and he wanted to satisfy his customers. His motto, "One call does it all," still stands today. He always listened to people, and he let them know they were heard.

Mr. Raggi was an active parishioner of Our Lady of Lourdes Church. He was a Third Degree Knight of Council 3440 of which he was a charter member. He was also a Fourth Degree Bishop Boyle Assembly. He was a member of American Legion Post 0698 in Burgettstown.

Surviving, in addition to his wife, are four children, Suzanne (Jim) Kelly and Eugene (Mary Beth) Raggi, both of Washington, Marybeth (Dr. Derek) Andreini of Wheeling, W.Va., and Lisa (Lou) Comis of Weirton, W.Va.; a sister, Enice (late Jack) Boyde of Steubenville, Ohio; grandchildren, Dr. James (Caroline) Kelly, Lauren (Andrew) Miller, Alysse Kelly, Dr. Eugene (Andrea) Raggi, Dominic and Adam Raggi, Madison and Derek Andreini and Dr. Leah, Lou and Ross Comis; a great-granddaughter, Clara Kelly; and many nieces and nephews that he cherished. Another grandchild is on the way.

Deceased are a sister, Eleanor (late John) Dvorsak, and a brother, William Raggi.

Friends will be received from 4 to 8 p.m. Monday and 2 to 4 and 6 to 8 p.m. Tuesday in Taucher Funeral Home, 23 Erie Mine Road, Burgettstown. A Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated at 11 a.m. Wednesday, April 22, in Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Burgettstown, with the Rev. Richard Tusky, as celebrant. Interment will follow in the church cemetery with full military honors accorded by Slovan-Burgettstown Veterans of Foreign Wars. The Knights of Columbus will recite the rosary at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the funeral home.

If so desired, memorial donations may be made in the memory of Eugene Raggi to Washington Health System Hospice, Washington, PA 15301, and Our Lady of Lourdes Church, capital improvement fund, 1109 Main Street, Burgettstown.

But thy memory will be cherished,
'Till we see thy heavenly face.

In 1931, after completing her freshman year at Westminster College in New Wilmington, she married Dr. Glenn Paterson Reed, a United Presbyterian missionary (and longtime crush from her home church in Houston) who was on furlough from educational work in South Sudan. A month later, she boarded a ship with him in New York City, bound to Sudan as a career missionary and teacher. Her first two sons were born in Khartoum.

The Reeds returned stateside in 1939 to live in suburban Philadelphia, where Mr. Reed was appointed secretary to the United Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions. Mrs. Reed assumed the role of surrogate sister, aunt, mother and hostess to many returning and departing missionaries and regularly had the knees of doctors, preachers, educators and foreign guests under her dinner table and their kids around her piano.

Her lifelong passions were making music, entertaining guests for tea, baking cookies with children and writing letters to her relatives and friends. She gave away anything she thought would bring someone happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed returned to the mission field as missionaries in Ethiopia from 1954 to 1969, making their home in Asmara, Eritrea, under the Presbyterian, USA. At the time of the Suez Canal crisis in 1956, the couple flew to Egypt and then traveled overland to Sudan with 23 children who had been boarders at Schutz School for missionary children in Alexandria.

The Reeds retired to their property in Corning Hill, Zionsville, Lehigh County, in 1969, and Mr. Reed became pastor of visitation at First Presbyterian Church, Bethlehem, for 10 years. Following his death in 1989, Mrs. Reed continued to live on Corning Hill at the home of her youngest son, George and wife Susan, until her death in July. She was surrounded by her loving family.

Surviving are four sons, John McNary Reed of Wixom, Mich., David Templeton Reed of Amble, William Anderson Reed of Wixom and George Campbell Reed of Zionsville; six grandchildren; and seven great-grandchildren.

A memorial service will be held at 11 a.m. Wednesday, August 10, in First Presbyterian Church, Bethlehem. Her family requests that in lieu of flowers, contributions be sent to Presbyterian Foundation, 200 East Twelfth Street, Jeffersonville, IN 47130, with the check memo reading "Ethiopia Education Endowment Fund."

He kept up his practice until he took ill, in spite of his age. He was one of the oldest active physicians in the county and was a former president of the Washington County Medical society. He was closely identified with the religious and educational interests of this place, having been a Presbyterian elder for 40 years, many of them in the First church here. He served several terms on the Burgettstown school board.

He was born in Smith township, the son of Samuel and Margaret Scott Riddile and was educated in medicine at the University of Michigan, graduating in 1864. He practiced for eight years at Noblestown, Candor and Pittsburgh and rounded out the remainder of 53 years work as a physician here.

He married twice, the first time Rosa, daughter of Finley Patterson of Crosscreek township. His second wife was Emma, daughter of Charles Bingham, who survives with one son, F. C. Riddile of Oakmont, and one daughter Mrs. E. B. Pry, of Ingram.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church in charge of the pastor, Dr. W. M. Hays, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of which Dr. Riddile was a member and elder, assisted by the Revs. J. V. Stevenson, M. A. Matheson and G. W. Snodgrass, had charge of the funeral. Dr. Hays dwelt on the devotion of Mr. Riddile to his duties in the church.

The services were largely attended, especially by the country people of this section, in whose service Dr. Riddile had never spared himself.

A quartette composed of Miss Willa Smith, Miss Grace Kerr, Audley McFarland and Joseph Chilcote, sang, Miss Emily Glessner being accompaniste.

The pallbearers were Richard Hill and W. E. McCurdy, fellow members of the session of the church, and A. H. Kerr, James Leigh, George Pate and Thomas L. Woodrow, trustees.

His father was born and died in Smith township.

DR. W. V. RIDDILE

The photo from which the above likeness was made was taken several years ago but is the only one available.

William VanEman Riddile received his earlier education in the common schools and at Burgettstown Academy. In 1861 he entered the office of Dr. T. W. Bradley, of Burgettstown, remaining with him for three years, during which time he entered the University of Michigan and graduated in 1864. Charles W. Roberts.

[Written for the Pennsylvania Grocer.]

Mr. C. W. Roberts, who died on Wednesday, June 20th, was born in Yarmouth, Maine, in 1850. He attended the public schools there until about the age of fourteen, when his father purchased a farm in Vineland, N. J. He helped on the farm for a few years, when he took an agency for books, which he made a success. In 1870 he came to Pittsburg, and was here one year when he bought out Briggs Bros' grocery business at 3,808, Butler street. Here he remained until the time of his death. Nobody ever knew Charley Roberts, as he was familiarly known, but to speak well of him. He was honest and upright in all his dealings and seemed to be more particular to know that he was doing what was right himself than to know that others were doing right by him. He was a man of big heart and mind and of firm determination. He was a first-class grocer, and built up a large, profitable business. It was always his aim to have in stock the very best quality of goods, Nobody could sell him an article on account of the cheapness of it. He would invariably inquire about the quality and if that did not suit him price was no object.

He was a true friend to the honest drummer, and the drummer was always treated in a kind and courteous way, no matter whether in need of goods or not, and many of these men have said what a pleasure it would be to do business if all merchants were like Mr. Roberts.

After a life of usefulness Charles W. Roberts has passed to the unknown. The last nine months of his life were spent in a sick bed, but let it be said that with all his suffering he never once murmured nor complained. He placed his trust in Christ, and was prepared to go. May we all, when the time comes for us to follow him, be ready and willing to take the journey.

He leaves a wife whose devotion to her husband during his illness cannot be measured.

The funeral took place on Sunday last, the body having been interred in Homewood Cemetery. The pallbearers were Mr. David Llewellyn, of T. C. Jenkins; Mr. Frick, of S. S. Marvin & Co.; H. Freker, O. H. Frazier, C. Reineman and C. J. Duke. The funeral procession was one of the largest ever seen in Lawrenceville.

THREE BOYS OF BERTHA MEET DEATHS IN STORM

Youngsters Taking Refuge Under a Tree During Storm Lose Lives
From Bolt of Lightning

Two brothers and a playmate, watching cattle from straying on a small farm near Bertha, were killed Sunday afternoon when lightning struck a large tree under which they sought shelter from a heavy rain-storm which swept the district.

The victims were Nick Mehollic, 12, and his brother, Samuel, 10, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mehollic, and Mike Roman, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Roman.

An elderly man, Benny Torko, 60, sitting near the boys at the time, was only slightly shocked.

The three boys had spent the early part of the afternoon watching the cattle. When the storm appeared, Mrs. Roman hurried from her house to call the boys in.

When she neared the scene, she saw Torko struggling to rise and then discovered the body of her son. The two brothers were lying a few feet away.

Mrs. Roman picked up her son and carried him in her arms to the house a mile distant. A general alarm was raised and soon a physician and members of the Burgettstown Fire Department, with a pulmotor, arrived at the scene.

Dr. A. O. Hindman pronounced the three boys dead and the pulmotor was not employed. The bodies were removed to the Lee & Wilson funeral home here.

The farm on which the tragedy occurred is located on the property of the Hanover Coal Company. Both fathers of the children are miners but have not been working steady, it was stated.

This tragedy in the Mehollic family was the third death in a year, another son having been killed by a train at Bertha, July 13, 1932.

Triple funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon. Interment was in the Fairview cemetery.
